Army Of 100,000 Scheduled For Demonstration To Force
Parley

WANT TO MEET BONAR LAW

Police Guard All Sections Near
Downing Street As Plot
Is Reported

By Associated Press
London.—The demonstration by the unemployed, is the feature of this time up to late Wednesday afternoon. A small crowd appeared in the White Hall section where the demonstration was supposed to be staged but the police who had taken precautions to avoid a disturbance had no trouble in maintaining order.

The widely heralded army of 100,000 or so desperate characters who were expected to assemble on the embankment and try to beat their way through to Downing Street to enforce their demands for an audience with Premier Bonar Law was missing and none of the comparatively small number of demonstrators showed any pronounced inclination to challenge the authority of the police.

London.—An alleged Communist plot to provoke a revolutionary trouble in London Wednesday in connection with anticipated demonstration by the unemployed, is the failure of this morning's newspapers, some of which predict serious rioting.

The organizers of the alleged plot are said by several papers which claim sufficient official support for their statements, to be dangerous Communists working in cooperation with Moscow. Their plan is said to be the exploitation of the large gathering of unemployed who marched from the province to London last week to call attention to their condition and to ask the premier to receive a deputation.

REFUSES TO SEE THEM
Mr. Bonar Law declined to receive spokesmen of the unemployed but promised that their cause would be heard by the ministers of labor and health. The leaders rejected this offer and insisted upon seeing the premier.

It seems probable however, that lurid suggestions made by some newspapers as to what may happen Wednesday will not be fulfilled, inasmuch as three labor commissioners after an interview with Mr. Bonar Law Tuesday night, agreed to advise the leaders of the unemployed to accept a conference with Sir Montague Barlow, the minister of labor, and abandon any plans for an attempt to force an entrance to Downing-st. The Daily Herald says that this advice was accepted and that a deputation will see the minister of labor Wednesday afternoon.

A police order was issued forbidding any demonstrations within certain areas around the house of parliament. This district is always under proscription for such purposes while parliament is sitting.

TAKE PRECAUTION
Extensive precautions were taken by the London police against trouble in connection with the proposed demonstration.

When the hour arrived for the assembling of the demonstrators on the embankment, mounted police in great numbers were on hand there and throughout the White Hall Area prepared for any emergency.

Shortly after noon a few demonstrators began to assemble on the embankment, some of them with red flags and the police received word that other bodies were marching in from various suburbs.

Keep Lid Off Stomach, Rules Mayor In Ohio

By Associated Press
Cleveland, O.—Men riding in elevators in buildings operated by the city of Cleveland are requested by Mayor Kohler not to remove their hats. "These fellow who are to be so polite and take off their hats just jam things up."

Mr. Kohler said Wednesday: "They hold their hats over their stomachs and take up room that other people should have. They also block the way in getting in and out of elevators. So I'm going to put up signs reading: 'Please don't remove your hat in this elevator. Keep it on and help speed up elevator service,' and I hope they will be obeyed."

LEADERS FEAR DOOM OF STATE EQUITY UNION

Dissension And Politics Cause
Rumpus—Meet In Fond Du Lac Dec. 5 To 8

By Associated Press
Madison.—Faced with problems that cause most serious concern among its membership, the Wisconsin Union, American Society of Equity, will meet for its seventeenth annual convention at Fond du Lac, Dec. 5 to 8.

This largest and most influential of Wisconsin farmers' organizations is confronted with dissension in its ranks, with a drop in membership and a loss of former members to regain control of its affairs, M. Wes. Tubbs, its secretary, says. Mr. Tubbs, an officer in the Equity society since 1902 has just tendered his resignation to the board of directors to take effect Dec. 31, unless administration conditions are changed.

THREATENS EXISTENCE
Internal politics and motivations of former members now outside of the Equity society, threaten its existence, according to the Equity News. Speaking of the coming convention, the News says:

"If a scramble for office is to be the chief business of the 1922 convention and the great problems of construction and reconstruction are to be left to individual or official initiative to be worked out after the convention, the doom of the Wisconsin State Union American Society of Equity, is sealed and one of the greatest opportunities for effective constructive work for future accomplishment will have been lost."

"It is time, now for the membership through their delegates to take possession of their organization irrespective of influences within or without, to determine its policies, to elect officers they want, to clothe them with absolute authority and provide them with adequate funds, and then hold them strictly responsible for satisfactory results and for accomplishments worth while. This done, no one will need to have any fears for the future of Equity in Wisconsin."

MANY WANT OFFICE
It is understood that E. C. Pommeroy, president of the society for the past two years, is not a candidate for reelection. A large number of office seekers looking for his position, have appeared. Mr. Tubbs says, but he is urging the membership to disregard all of these men and draft officers from among the members. He believes that the Equity organization can overcome all difficulties and regain its strength by drastic action in the coming convention.

While the Equity society is holding its convention former members not connected with the society are, according to call issued by them to hold a separate meeting at Fond du Lac in an effort to regain control of the organization.

This group is headed by J. Weller Long, a former treasurer and C. B. Ballard, state treasury agent. Its activities are repudiated by the Equity News.

The students are to be kept in training until they show that they have overcome their failings in the use of language.

HARDING FACES BIGGEST FIGHT IN SUBSIDY BILL

Message Was Ultimatum To Pass Marine Project Or Assume Consequences

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1922 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—President Harding Tuesday placed squarely before congress an ultimatum—either pass the bill salvaging the American merchant fleets from further loss or take the responsibility of a destructive alternative. The message of the president is fraught with the most dangerous consequences to the Republican party. The party must stand by its leader or wreck the administration's chances of succeeding itself.

Mr. Harding is fully aware of the hostility of members of the Republican party from the middle west to the ship subsidy program. Courageously he has chosen to fight. And the bombardment of facts which the president has started will not end with a mere message. It will be followed by personal conferences in a heart-to-heart appeal to stand by the president, by the administration and by the people of a united Republican party. Insurgents there are. Prejudices are numerous. But against them all the president arrays the facts.

ABRAYING ARGUMENTS
Discreetly Mr. Harding attacks the weakness of the situation, the name of the legislation, "ship subsidy." He tries to convert this weakness due to prejudice into a point of strength. He argues that government appropriations for good roads are a subsidy. The War Finance corporation granted subsidies, the money spent for inland waterway improvement is a subsidy, and so on with dozens of other expenditures which appear to benefit a class but on behalf of which it is claimed that ultimately the whole country benefits.

Mr. Harding, it is conceded in Washington, made out in his message the strongest case for his bill that might have been made. He epitomized and emphasized all the arguments which for nearly a year have enveloped the project of government aid to shipping. But the keynote which will be taken up by his party associates was the idea of reducing government expenditures—the idea of economy rather than further spending.

The president contends that the government is spending fifty millions a year and wearing out its own ships. He proposed by the new legislation that the government spend not more than thirty millions, an economy of twenty millions. To overcome that argument the opponents of the bill must show an alternative equally good if not better. Congress has permitted the shipping situation to drift ever since the war. Under Chairman Lasker's guidance operations have become more efficient and business-like but even Mr. Lasker insists that as a business proposition more money will have to be spent in the long run if the bill isn't passed than if it is. The administration's strength in this fight lies in the fact that the opponents of the bill have revived a pre-war prejudice against the principle of subsidy without offering any concrete program to deal with the fleet which was inherited from the war. The case against subsidy is built largely on the idea that it will cost the government more money and the farmer communities of the west are represented as believing money should be spent to help them—they want a subsidy in the form of rural credit arrangements. Mr. Harding must reckon on with that sentiment and the chances are he will come to an understanding with the farm element on support of their proposals in the December session of congress.

PIGMENT OF CAREER
For the moment, the president is making the biggest fight of his political career. He feels his arguments and position are invincible for the responsibility of congress will be definitely fixed if the bill is passed. Will the Republican party in the present congress where the majority is more than comfortable turn the president down? A group of insurgents are already defining the party leader but they haven't the votes to defeat the bill if the regulars stick together. It has looked dark for the merchant marine bill until this week. Mr. Harding hadn't put on the heavy artillery—a square statement of the issues involved and his readiness to fight for those issues. A special rule will have to be invoked to limit debate in the house and push it through. The administration is confident it can win in the house. Once the fight is won in the lower branch of congress, the prospects of passage in the senate will be brighter.

psychological effect of a victory by President Harding on so complex a subject as ship subsidy and one so full of hostile phases would be beneficial to the chief executive. It would help him in other tasks. He is therefore fighting not merely for government aid to merchant shipping—the first constructive measure of importance in this administration—but fighting for his leadership of the Republican party.

NEGRO GETS OFFICE
By Associated Press
Washington.—Walter L. Cohen, a Negro of New Orleans, was nominated Wednesday by President Harding to be comptroller of customs at that city, a position to which he previously had been appointed during the reign of congress.

NO. 8385

BROSS LLOYD

Joliet—William Bross Lloyd, millionaire Communist Labor Party leader, who surrendered shortly before midnight to prison authorities to serve his sentence of from one to fifteen years for violation of the Illinois anti-syndicalist law is now convict No. 8385.

Wednesday morning he was measured for a prison suit and other equipment. He had his hair cut in prison style and his Bertillon measurements and finger prints taken. The camera which he spent days in hiding to avoid, was snapped at him for identification. He probably will be assigned to his work Thursday. Penitentiary authorities denied that he will be a teacher in the convicts' school.

War Wasn't Done, Thinks Mussolini

By American Press

Paris.—Benito Mussolini, the Italian premier, in an interview with the Lausanne correspondent of LeMatin, said that the Allies should have finished the war, "you in Berlin and we in Vienna and Budapest."

"The enemy ought to have been throttled," the premier is quoted as saying. "Now you realize that you have little chance of getting your dues and you are disappointed. Germany is resolved not to pay. In addition she is threatening for you and threatening for us, for a Teutonic flood is at our gates. The Tyrol is but a geographical definition."

Europe, according to Mussolini, is troubled with a chaotic condition which the continent has no power to resist. He therefore urged Fascism for Belgium, France, Italy and Great Britain to defend western culture against Germany and Soviet Russia.

EDUCATOR MAY GET NEWBERRY'S PLACE

By Associated Press

Lansing, Mich.—The field in the race for the senatorial toga dropped by Truman H. Newberry appeared to be thinning out Wednesday with three or four Republican leaders regarded as having drawn out in front, although Governor A. J. Croschek still kept secret the identity of the person he was most earnestly considering to fill the place of the resigned senator. The names most often heard now are those of Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, Dr. David Friday, nationally known economist, who is president of the Michigan Agricultural college and W. W. Potter, state fuel administrator.

The governor declared Wednesday the man who would be appointed must be "a figure and not a figurehead" in congress, that he must be favorable to forward looking legislation for labor and the farmers, that he must not be reactionary nor a member of any bloc. He also said the man he would appoint must be one who would seek modification of the Kesh-Cummins transportation act and he must be able to seek reelection in 1924 on his merits.

'Proudest Woman In U.S.' Says Mrs. Felton, Retiring

By American Press

Washington.—The first woman senator, Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia, closed her senatorial career Wednesday after answering over her name and making a brief address amid applause of senators and spectators.

Her successor, Walter F. George, then was sworn in and Mrs. Felton became a former senator after an actual service of 22 hours and 25 minutes.

"I feel like the happiest woman in the United States today," said Mrs. Felton in her address, which she delivered standing in the center aisle and emphasized with waving gestures of her white gloved hands. She added that she regarded her brief service as senator as a historical fact as well as a romantic incident."

FAIL TO HANG BANK ROBBERY ON M'FARLAND

Trio Held For Dale P. O. Robbery To Go Before Jury In Milwaukee

United States Deputy Marshals Hayes and Smith arrived here from Milwaukee Wednesday morning to take charge of Phillip and John Albright, brothers, and John McFarland, brother-in-law of John Albright who according to police have confessed to blowing and robbing the safe of the Dale postoffice Friday.

The prisoners were conducted to the 12:05 train for Oshkosh Wednesday noon. They were to be arraigned before the United States commissioner in Oshkosh Wednesday afternoon for a preliminary hearing after which they were to be bound over to the federal grand jury at Milwaukee.

Witnesses who saw the man who robbed the Outagamie County State bank here last year were asked to appear at the police station at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in order to identify John McFarland if possible. While the straw hat that was left behind at the time fitted the man exactly, and while he was of the same size and build and, according to the witnesses, strongly resembled the lone bandit in other ways, no accurate identification was possible. McFarland's complexion was somewhat more ruddy than that of the man who robbed the bank of approximately $10,000.

An effort had been made by the authorities to locate a third revolver used by the trio involved in the Dale robbery. Two 38-caliber pistols were recovered as well as a quantity of 38 and 45-caliber cartridges. John Albright admitted he had thrown a revolver into the river when he learned that his brother was in jail. Sheriff P. C. Schwartz captured the man to LeMans Wednesday morning in the hope of locating the gun, but it could not be found.

FUEL OUTLOOK BRIGHT; SURVEY REPORTS DROP

Warm Weather And Publicity
Stops Boost Despite Recent Mine Strike

Chicago.—Expectation that some coal operators would recoup their losses in the recent coal strike through increased prices—a belief given wide publicity at the end of the strike when one or two operators were quoted to that effect, has failed to materialize, according to a survey of fuel conditions based on statements of state and railway commission officials and coal operators in western states.

The wide publicity, combined with an unusually warm autumn discouraged buying by domestic consumers to such an extent that there has been a noticeable drop in prices in many states. This is particularly noted in those coal producing areas where freight rates for short hauls are not a major factor in setting the rail prices. Typical of the general trend according to Robert Medill, state fuel administrator of Illinois, are prices at the Central Illinois mines, immediately after the strike the operators quoted screenings, their lowest grade coal, at from $3.25 to $3.75 at the pit mouth. Last week central Illinois screenings were offered as low as $1.50 and in spite of the continued orders are unable to book enough orders to average 50 per cent production. Similar price reductions are reported from several states.

HOW THINGS STAND
A summary of the fuel situation in several states as told by state coal association officials follows:

Michigan—Utilities and manufacturers have sufficient supplies for the present. Domestic consumers may be inconvenienced with cold weather, anthracite shortage particularly felt.

Iowa.—Coal operators say there is no shortage in state; demand slow because of warm weather.

Wisconsin.—Twelve million tons soft coal on hand with 2,000,000 more expected before navigation closes; sufficient to meet all demands anthracite shortage serious with only 500,000 tons on hand and not more than 14,000 tons expected weekly until navigation closes.

SITUATION PROMISING
Minnesota and northwest.—Situation of mining in the east, total tonnage of mining in the east, total anthracite received at head of lakes to date is less than 25 per cent of that hoped for by government officials, but extension of navigation 10 days from Dec. 1, weather permitting, is expected to relieve a shortage; if weather prevents extension of the open season on the lakes the north west will depend on rail shipment of soft coal.

North Dakota.—Almost no anthracite received but the supply of soft coal from the head of the lakes and from Illinois, Montana and Canadian mines arriving regularly; North Dakota mines are able to supply western half of state and more if cars are available. The governor is planning to use motor trucks if necessary to distribute fuel; warm weather has decreased the demand.

South Dakota.—Soft coal supply equal to 85 to 90 per cent of normal, sufficient to meet all demands, dealers are advertising hard coal for sale indicating that a supply is available.

TRAIN MUTILATES NEENAH RESIDENT

A man struck by a Soo line train near the south end of the Soo yards at Neenah, shortly after 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, was identified at Theda Clark hospital this noon as Matt Merkle, 55, Smith-st., Neenah. Mr. Merkle, a retired farmer, had started to walk into the country to assist another farmer and had stepped directly in the path of a train coming from the rear. He had been walking between the double tracks and it is believed he stepped to one side, thinking the train was on another track.

Examination at the hospital revealed a fractured skull, several broken ribs, broken arm, broken leg and cuts and bruises about the head and body. He was not identified until several hours later.

Bread, Water To Jog Memory Is Judge's Plan

Racine.—Municipal Judge Burgess has inaugurated the custom of affixing a sentence of three days on bread and water as a prefix to the punishment meted out to drunks who find themselves unable to indicate the place where they obtained the first drink of their resultant spree.

Thwarted in his attempts to locate the places where the intoxicated were being sold, the judge has laid down the aforementioned rule, asserting that the memory of the prisoners might be jogged up a bit by the prospect of three days of starvation rations.

'TIGER' SEES ANOTHER WAR WITH GERMANY

Criticises United States For
Stepping Out Of International Affairs

By Associated Press
New York.—The police escort assigned to M. Clemenceau during his stay in this city was doubled Wednesday afternoon when the "Tiger" received a letter threatening his life, signed "A World War Veteran."

The doughty old war premier who came to America in an effort to strengthen the ties between this country and France, treated the massive slightly.

When the "Tiger" started for the chamber of commerce where he was to deliver a brief address he was escorted by a dozen additional motorcycle policemen.

The letter read:

"Don't you dare say too much about this country and Germany. If you don't heed our advice you will hear 'bullets' flying about your head. We are sick of having you poison the minds of our people."

New York.—Georges Clemenceau prepared to rest after having delivered his first address in the United States, a warning to Americans that German militarists were preparing for another war.

In this address, spoken in the Metropolitan opera house Tuesday night before an immense audience, the war premier of France voiced what he termed friendly criticism of the United States for its post-war attitude declaring that after mixing its blood with that of the Allies, it had stepped out of international affairs leaving Europe in a snarl.

He urged America to renew conversations with France and Great Britain to present a united front to Germany and show that the terms of the Versailles treaty, including the payment of the reparations, must be carried out. He did not attempt to indicate how America should again take up her hand in the international affairs but said he might speak of the League of Nations as a practical vehicle.

M. Clemenceau's next address will be in Boston.

After his speech the "Tiger" returned to the Gibson home and expressed a desire to chat with his friends about what he had said. They induced him to retire at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Two hours and fifteen minutes later, Clemenceau, bright eyed and smiling, was up asking for a transcript of his address. Informed that there was not one in the house he sent to the street for a morning newspaper.

Before breakfast was served he was dictating a French translation of his talk.

Allies Overrule Turk Proposal At Lausanne For Open Sessions

TACKLE NEAR EAST TANGLE

Secretary Of Conference To Give Formal Statements
To Newspapers

By Associated Press
Lausanne.—The Lausanne conference, having organized for work is now ready to take up its task of restoring peace in the Near East.

The effort of Ismet Pasha and his Turkish delegation for open sessions and complete publicity for all conference proceedings has been overruled and news announcements will be limited to formal communiques agreed upon by the secretary of the conference.

The former British premier planned this conference before the fall of his government. Round table gatherings such as this are Mr. Lloyd George's specialty but they apparently are not so much to the taste of the new British government.

FEWER CONFERENCES

Neither does Premier Mussolini of Italy show the same enthusiasm for them that has been manifested by previous Italian governments and there are indications that Europe may not expect a conference every few weeks from this time on.

"Make peace by Christmas," is the slogan which is being passed around conference circles, but indications are that the work will be scarcely well begun by that time if the delegates delve thoroughly into tangled problems which have arisen from the destruction of the Sevres treaty and the defeat of Greeks.

The machinery of present conferences will apparently be much the same as that of the Genoa, Hague and San Remo meetings. Three commissions to deal with general problems are provided for in the preliminary arrangements.

KEEP BRUSEWITZ, PUT 5 NEW MEN ON ROAD COMMITTEE

Salary Adjustments Are Made
By County Board At

The rules were suspended and the clerk was instructed to cast a unanimous ballot in his favor. His salary was left at $3,000, the same as last year notwithstanding the salary committee recommended a cut of $600. The announcement of the proposed cut was followed by a discussion. The vote stood 32 to 7 in favor of leaving it at $3,000.

The new county-state-road and bridge committee consists of P. H. Ryan Appleton; J. P. Anderson, South Kaukauna; M. Bottrell, Dale; A. M. McCone, Deer Creek; Charles Sievert, Osborn; P. H. Ryan and A. M. McCone were the only old members reelected. George F. Fiedler of Seymour, chairman, was defeated by Charles Sievert by a vote of 17 to 21, and L. J. Werner was defeated by M. Bottrell by a vote of 34 to 5. J. P. Anderson succeeded Joseph T. Doerfler resigned.

HAD TO CLEAR THE WAY

Monday afternoon at about 4:30 "I spied" a Ford truck stalled at the corner of North and Bateman streets, almost in the center of the streetcar tracks and the interurban car was about a block away. When the interurban reached the truck the motorist got out and helped the driver push his Ford off of the tracks.

TWO CURIOS

Yesterday I saw two elderly women walking on a street one with a short skirt and the other with a long skirt. They passed each other and both turned round and looked at each other's skirt. I think they were both wondering which one was in style.

COURTESY NOT OUT OF STYLE

While going west on the 145 car Tuesday afternoon I saw something happen that just made me feel good all over. There was an elderly lady on the car, besides being elderly she was crippled so that it was necessary for her to use a crutch. When she got ready to get off the motorist stopped the car, set the brake and went to the rear of the car to help the lady to the ground. The nice part of it was the motorist looked as if he really enjoyed doing the little courtesy.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

Last Friday evening after the concert at the chapel a young girl carrying several books and an umbrella was in the crowd of people hurrying down College avenue in the pouring rain. In her endeavor to do so she side stepped, slipped and fell on the wet pavement, scattering her books, and lying in Moose hall. Ashley R. Armitage, collected her books and wrecked umbrella, tucked them under her arm and walked swiftly down the avenue.

The runaway occurred when the wagon was struck by an automobile driven by John Murphy, 1211 Emily st.

It is expected it will take more than a year before construction will begin.

Members of the present commission are paid according to attendance at meetings. The ordinance will propose a yearly salary for the members.

EAGLES' BAZAAR DRAWING CROWDS

Interesting Evening Programs
Arranged For Remainder
Of The Week

Large crowds are attending the nineteenth annual bazaar and program of the Fraternal Order of Eagles which is being held in Eagle hall this week. The bazaar started Nov. 20 and will end Nov. 25. Proceeds will be added to the building fund with which it is planned to erect a new home for the Eagles here.

Wednesday night the chief entertainment will be a program by the Meredith Sisters, big time vaudeville actors, who will offer a number of songs and dances. These young women have recently returned from a trip around the world. They are considered among the cleverest vaudeville entertainers in the country.

An amateur vaudeville contest will be the big feature of Thursday night's program. Substantial prizes will be given the winners and there is an excellent possibility that they will have an opportunity of presenting their skits in the larger cities. Persons who wish to enter the contest must leave their names at the box office in Eagle hall between 11 o'clock in the morning and 1:30 in the afternoon on Thursday. Managers of two vaudeville circuits will act as judges in the contest.

Friday evening's entertainment will be a dancing contest in which prizes will be given to the best dancers. The bazaar will close on Saturday evening with a mardi gras.

STILL TIME TO SEND HOLIDAY GIFTS ABROAD

There have been a number of inquiries at the postoffice about sending Christmas packages to Europe and other foreign lands. Authorities inform the public that those contemplating shipment of parcels to foreign countries must do so at once.

It still is possible to have mail reach China, Japan, and other lands of the Orient by Christmas or very near it if it is dispatched immediately. Christmas mail that is destined for Europe should be sent before Dec. 12, it was announced.

Miss Lola Smith of Oshkosh spent Tuesday evening in Appleton with friends.

W. P. Childs, F. A. Stutz and A. T. Racine stopped in Appleton on Tuesday on their way to the north where they will go hunting.

Kenneth Clorine of Rhineland, a traveling man who makes Appleton his headquarters, submitted to an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital recently and is recovering rapidly.

ON THE SCREEN

FLORENCE VIDOR HAS ROLE OF NURSE IN THOS. H. INCE DRAMA
The wholesome beauty grace and charm of Florence Vidor, Thomas H. Ince's classic star, is strikingly demonstrated in her part as a nurse in Ince's startling picture, "Skin Deep." As the nurse in charge of a convalescent crook who was frightfully maimed in an airplane fall while making his thrilling escape from prison, Miss Vidor has the difficult task of implanting in the soul of the crook the desire to abandon his career of crime.

Returning to her patient's room one morning she finds that he has fled. Which road did he take—the one leading back to his old haunts in the underworld or the new and open road pointed out by his new-made friends?

You can follow him with Miss Vidor down the trail he followed in "Skin Deep" showing at the Elite theatre today and tomorrow.

Cocktail drinking, promiscuous flirting, "crap shooting," and the wearing of daring feminine clothes, used to mark the doers as "fast." But not in this day of "jazz." Nowadays really "nice people" do all these things without censure.

The danger of this attitude, with particular reference to young girls, forms the theme of "Nice People," William de Mille's latest Paramount Picture which comes to Fisher's Appleton Theatre tomorrow.

"UNLOVED WIFE"
Almost every man believes he might have married a great many women. In his heart of hearts he has an idea that almost every woman who ever smiled upon him or blinked an interested eyelash at him would only too gladly have become his wife. And when married, what then? "The Unloved Wife," the new dramatic success in three acts comes to Fisher's Appleton Theatre Thanksgiving Day with matinee and evening performances.

PUT COMPETITION INTO RETAIL DINNER

Trade Groups Are Staging Race
To Win Attendance
Honors

There will be lively competition for attendance honors at the annual retailers' banquet at 6:15 Thursday evening in the Venetian room of the Sherman house.

Merchants have been divided into groups according to lines of business such as dry goods, groceries, meats, clothing, automobiles and others. They will be seated by groups in the banquet room making it possible to see which has the largest turnout.

Representatives of each group are busy securing reservations so theirs will excel the others when the seating takes place.

Leonard S. Smith city planner, who is to speak 20 minutes, will show stereopticon views of Appleton in connection with his talk illustrating his reasons for the zoning ordinance as he has proposed it.

Short talks will be given by many others, with discussions following.

TOO LITTLE WOODS LEFT; DEER SCARCE

Leveling of big virgin forests in northern Wisconsin is tending to deplete them of deer and each succeeding year will find them more scarce and hunting more difficult according to William H. Zuehlke, who has returned from the north woods bringing a deer with him.

Transporting of deer by automobiles has robbed railroads of much of this business it was observed in the north woods. Stations at which deer formerly were loaded into trains by truckloads now are almost minus the coveted animals. In this way it is not easy to gauge the success of hunters.

This is probably the last time the postmaster will take to the woods after deer without a previous snowfall. Hunting was exceedingly difficult near Eagle river he said. Mr. Zuehlke has missed very few deer hunts in the last 20 years.

BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 8 INITIATES 8 MEMBERS

Formal reception into the troop will occur at the meeting next week, when the scout oath will be given.

TARIFF TO BE FLEXIBLE

Addresses and interviews given by members of the United States Tariff commission indicate their purpose to apply the new law in a scientific manner, and raise and lower duties in accordance with changing business conditions. The commission is arranging to operate like the Interstate Commerce commission, and it announces that business men may file applications for changes in the tariffs, and it will conduct public hearings.

The necessity of the times is a flexible, instead of an arbitrary, tariff, and a tariff that is partly protective and partly unrestrictive. After scientific tariff regulation becomes a settled fact, the people will be glad to be relieved of the intrigue of selfish interests.

A HALF BILLION STEAL

In the next few weeks the large cities of America are to be the scene of a tax collection drive against thousands of small business houses which have been evading federal taxes. It is said nearly a million persons should have made returns this year and did not, and that the number liable for taxes on incomes above $5,000 who neglected to report or concealed assets when they did goes considerably over the million mark.

The total of these evasions is estimated at more than half a billion dollars due from people who have made no returns for four years. This half billion, if not collected, is distributed among the great majority of honest taxpayers who scrupulously discharge their obligations as citizens. They pay it. The popular attitude of levity about those who hide their assets reveals a truly broad and unselfish sense of humor, for the taxes of the few who evade come directly from the pockets of the tolerant general public. Government obligations never scale themselves down to the deficiencies caused by tax evaders. Somebody has to meet them and the average citizen will come in time to appreciate that the fellow who defaults on his share is no more to be admired or apologized for than any one else who takes the public's money.

IDLE MOMENTS

Tourists who have taken extensive automobile trips during the past season must have noted the big difference seen in the cities and towns through which they passed. Two communities may seem alike in size and advantages, yet the temper of the two places may vary widely.

In some a feeling of activity and energy is noticeable even to the casual observer. The quick step of the people upon the street, their earnest and attentive manner, suggest a community of achievement and advance.

Other towns are pervaded by a more listless feeling. Many loafers are seen on benches and others decorate the curbstones. Business men would be standing in their doorways lazily observing the traffic as it passed. In the stores clerks would be idly gossiping. Many knots of people would be exchanging sidewalk gossip. Probably a lot of these easy going people would say that the constitution of the world is wrong, and that adverse conditions are responsible for their disappointments in life. They would complain of the unprogressiveness of their home towns. Yet if some one asked them to serve on a committee to give their sleepy old burg a boost, they would be likely to say that they had no time for such efforts.

A more active man placed in such a community would see plenty of opportunity for developing. If he owned a business, he would be studying up new ways of pushing it, examining advertising methods that had gained results elsewhere, or he would be rooting around in the back country trying to draw trade now going elsewhere. If he was a clerk or mechanic, he would use these unfilled chunks of his time to improve his business or trade equipment, enlarge his information about his calling, or develop his home place.

The success of a man or a community depends largely on whether these spare moments are filled with purposeful effort, or are given up to aimless loafing. Here in Appleton as in every locality the way is always open for growth, to those who are determined to win success.

LIFE EXPECTANCY INCREASED

According to Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute of New York, life expectation at birth is eighteen years greater now than a century ago. In the past twenty years about ten years have been added to life expectancy.

The explanation lies in the fact that we live better than our forefathers did. We receive prompt medical attention. Precautions are taken to preserve health. Food is purer. Living places are better, and so are facilities for healthful and comfortable living.

Work does not shorten life. Drudgery and worry do, and dissipation does. Many years. Idleness is more unhealthy than hard work. To live long we must live properly and comfortably, and keep busy. We should be employed all the time, either with work or pleasing diversion. Work, diversion, sleep and clean living are the best builders of health and multipliers of years.

RADICALISM ON THE RACK IN EUROPE

Whether the new ministry to be appointed in Germany will have a brief existence or be a more or less permanent influence in political rejuvenation depends on the government's reliance on the middle classes and the business interests. The true significance of developments in Germany is a transition from radicalism to conservatism.

France made the start toward stabilization, but evidently has not progressed up to expectations. The unique and somewhat unsanctionable revolution in Italy was a striking out toward more solid foundations. The present English election is a conservative gesture. Even in Russia a tendency toward rational administration is apparent.

The signs are good. They are indications of genuine progress. One after another the nations are abandoning fantastic theories for common sense. They are scrapping radical follies and adopting policies which make for political and social security.

NOT HEREDITY, BUT ENVIRONMENT

Mr. C. M. Reed, whose byname is "Daddy," and who is senior special parole agent of the state of Illinois, had had in twenty years, supervision of 6,000 boys released from correctional institutions. It is his opinion that no boy is born bad.

That is more human and scientific than the verdict that boys are what they are by heredity. It means that a boy may become either good or incorrigible. Juvenile delinquency is caused, he maintains, by conditions in the home. Boys have their ideals, and good example serves them best.

CRADLE VERSUS DESK

Most of the girls of today are brought up to earn their own livings.

An increasing number of women are trying to find out how they can keep their place at the desk without sloughing the cradle. And they do not mean to give up until they are sure that it cannot be done.

Reckoning the cradle is barred by the leading baby doctors. The kindergarten is insisted upon by educators. Good schools are taking more and more of the time of the children. It is no longer necessary for a woman who is married to give like a sweatshop worker in order to keep her offspring covered. Laundry work can be sent out and prepared food can be brought in.

Changes in the manner of living have made it more nearly possible for a woman to hold a regular job and do a good deal for her family, but the problem has not yet been solved. Women of unusual organizing capacity and strong physical endowment are managing to divide their time between office and children, without either being asked to resign or sending the children to the juvenile court. Some women have found out how. Many more are trying to find out.—BOSTON GLOBE.

Surgeons declare that orange blossoms make a fine anesthetic. Maybe that's why the crowd never looks conscious during the ceremony.—EVANSVILLE COURIER.

Nowadays the up-to-date farmer raises his own foodstuffs and feedstuffs. What keeps him strapped is buying his Fordstuffs.—NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT.

Another hard one that comes through the mails is this: "Why does water run off a duck's back?" So that writers and lecturers may use the term for comparative illustration to show how easily some things are done.—MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL.

DOES THE COOK PEPPER THE FOOD

With cooks so scarce and so hard to please it does seem too bad to pick on them even in the interest of public welfare, but unfortunately a great many harmless people have suffered unmerited punishment at the hands of mighty good cooks—perfectly good cooks who happened to be innocent carriers of typhoid fever, for example. So it is not enough for a family to present satisfactory evidence of financial and social standing and so on to a prospective cook, and promise her the exclusive use of the car Thursdays and Sundays. It is well to consider whether she will pepper the food.

Cooking, perhaps more than any other domestic occupation affords the opportunity for infection, the chance for disease to pass from the cook to those who partake of the cook's dishes. Experience and special investigation have proved that there is practically no risk at all of contracting any disease of a communicable or infectious kind by working in a laundry and handling the soiled clothes which come in from all sorts of places and people. Housecleaning and house work in general expose the houseworker to no particular danger. Nor is there any particular risk that the occupants of the house may contract any disease from such houseworkers. But cooking is another story.

Everybody who is reasonably intelligent knows nowadays that we give off a fine invisible spray from the mouth when talking; that this spray consists of innumerable droplets of moisture which may carry four feet or more from the face of the talker; and that if the talker happens to have some communicable disease, the virus or germs of which are eliminated in the saliva, the germs may be carried in the droplets, to lodge wherever the spray falls. Now suppose the cook has something in her head no matter what, but something communicable; and suppose she talks more or less as she prepares the meals; suppose she rambles on while she inspects a pudding or something that is just nice and warm, agreeably warm to encourage the germs which happen to alight on the pudding; and finally suppose—

It is unpleasant to suppose such things. Sad but true. Disease germs must have encouragement if they are to survive long enough outside of the body to endanger a second person. Food not too hot to eat is just about ideal for the encouragement of any disease germs which may happen to be put in it. I say "be put in" because disease germs never go anywhere of their own activity—they have to be carried, usually by a human being, always by an animate being, in order to get anywhere at all in this world. Once outside of the body they just literally curl up and die from exposure or sunlight, air and cold unless they are lucky enough to fall into a nice warm moist place where food is available. Precious few disease germs can survive more than a few minutes of exposure to sunlight or a few hours exposure to temperature which we consider ideal for the air of a living room.

A good cook should be a Caesar's wife, not alone as to typhoid carrying but in respect to every other communicable disease. Her varicose veins are a harmless badge of office.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Boxer's Cauliflower Ear

I am a boxer. How can I prevent getting cauliflower ear?—J. S.

Answer—Injury of the cartilage or its covering membrane is likely to end in "cauliflower ear" unless the injury is very carefully treated immediately and not after an interval.

A Woman's Weight

How much should a woman of 23, 61 inches long, weigh in perfect health? If a fair question: What are the qualities that make a man a man? I mean in character. It is rather bewildering; one sees so many successful shrimps in long trousers.—Miss H. J. M.

Answer—She should weigh 127 to 132 pounds. Your question is a poser. Ask your pastor or your Uncle Albert to define a man.

For Preparation

I would surely appreciate your publishing that recipe again, which you gave some time ago for perspiration. It was the best thing I ever tried. It was composed of something like lime chloride and distilled water, but I can't remember positively.—Mrs. W. M.

Answer—You probably refer to a formula to diminish excessive sweating or foul odor in the armpits. That was:

Aluminum chloride, ½ ounce; distilled water (for rain water), 3 ounces. Sponge armpits with the solution once each alternate day for three to six times. Allow to dry before dressing. This may be repeated at intervals as needed.

Ringworm Contagious

Please tell me whether a child playing with one that has ringworm on the head can take the disease. The mother of the child thinks not, although the child with the ringworm is not allowed to remain in school.—Mrs. R. A. R.

Answer—Yes, ringworm is spread through personal contact. That is why the child with the disease is not permitted to attend school.

MAKE MARRIAGE AS WELL AS DIVORCE MORE DIFFICULT

"The crucial objection" to political activities for women has always been the CEDAR RAPIDS GAZETTE reminds us, the theoretical danger to "the traditions of home life." Now "women are planning to do something for the protection of the home and the stabilizing of our social life that men alone never would do," and if they succeed "they will justify their right to the ballot." The plan referred to is the movement sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for uniform marriage and divorce laws throughout the forty-eight states, by means of a constitutional amendment if necessary, by which both marriage and divorce will be "made more difficult." With the general purpose of the club women and, on the whole, with their program, editors are in hearty sympathy, although there is a divergence of opinion as to the best way to accomplish that purpose.

That such legislation as is proposed "would mark decided advance in the welfare of society," the GREEN BAY PRESS GAZETTE is certain, and it agrees with the ST. PAUL DISPATCH that "that great organization of women could not undertake a better within the scope of its purpose, and is entitled to the most respectful consideration by the national and state legislative bodies," for the end toward which it is working "is greatly to be desired."

The need for uniformity in laws regulating both marriage and divorce, "is apparent," says the ALBANY NEWS, for while such legislation has always been the province of the states themselves, they have as the JACKSON CITIZEN PATRIOT puts it, "functioned badly." The result, the MINNIE STAR notes, is that "at present we have almost as many codes as there are states," and these codes, the KANSAS CITY TIMES adds, "are about as far apart" as can be imagined, "the variations running all the way from South Carolina, which grants divorce on no grounds, to Nevada, which grants it on practically any cause the human mind can conceive."

"Laws regulating marriage and divorce should be uniform throughout the United States," declares the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD, "because conditions with which they deal are practically uniform." As the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER expresses it, "there is no essential difference in human nature or in personal character between the inhabitants of the seaboard or the inland reaches of America to justify so many different sets of warring regulations with regard to marriage and divorce."

So far as marriage regulation is concerned, the proposed legislation, the APPLETON (WIS.) POST-CRESCENT points out, "would prevent hasty and foolish marriages" through the "required public notice or publication of the banns, two weeks in advance of a wedding," a scheme which the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD believes would make impossible "the existence of a Crown Point (Indiana's famous Grinnell Green) or similar quick marriage centers in the United States." When the facts "are traced the paper continues, "it is too often found there is a direct relationship between hasty and ill-considered marriage and divorce." To this the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE adds that "physicians, social workers and observers generally have for years conceded that the ease with which marriage may be contracted constitutes a basic problem to which can be traced many of the perplexing social questions of the present day."

The federation's plan is merely one to "take the folly out of marriage," as the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL sees it, and "it simply had to come." If the idea is adopted there will be "no more elopements, not so much romance and rashness," but "more golden weddings."

Divorce, under the program proposed by the organized women, would be granted for "infidelity, incurable insanity, abandonment for one year, cruel and inhuman treatment, or conviction of an infamous crime." A divorce granted in any state would be valid in all states, and "no divorced person would be eligible to remarry within one year." These regulations "if carried out nationally," the DIANAPOLIS STAR thinks, "should do a long way toward improving present conditions," but if the proposal "hinges on getting an amendment to the federal constitution, it is not likely to have very smooth sailing."

Very likely states will be "opposed to surrendering their jurisdiction over the question of marriage and divorce," the OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN suggests, in which event "a strong effort should be made to obtain the enactment of uniform marriage and divorce laws by the various state legislatures."

However, "if reform is to be effected," the WILKES BARRE RECORD is convinced that "it must be done through action by Congress, applicable alike to all states." Some years ago, the paper recalls, "the Governors of a number of states, acting on the initiative of Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, drafted a model divorce code in the hope that the states would adopt it, but in only a few was it even introduced into the legislatures." Whatever the merits of the question of making either marriage or divorce more difficult, it will be conceded, the SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN believes, "that the greatest social need of the nation is uniformity," and if this cannot be obtained by any other means than taking the regulatory power away from the individual states, then a constitutional amendment should follow, for "uniformity of marriage laws is at least as important as uniformity in liquor legislation."

But in the opinion of the PHILADELPHIA EVENING LEDGER, "the country has had enough of constitutional amending for the present. The elections proved, if they proved anything, a general dissatisfaction with centralized authority and the theory under which Congress was compelled to appear as a sort of morals police for the whole country. In the end it may be doubted whether any question related to marriage and divorce can be effectively dealt with through the legal statutes."

If some one can find an antidote for sophistication and a cure for the scourge of popular cynicism the divorce and marriage problem will settle itself.

Vanished Lake Is Farmland

(Dr. J. R. Nannestad, in The Evening Tribune, Albert Lea, Minn.)

Among her many natural beauties, Freeborn county, Minnesota, also boasts of a number of beautiful lakes. If a man could climb to the top of a hill high enough to give him a view of the whole country he would be able to count some 15 or 20 lakes—all within our county limits.

This seems a great deal. But still, no so very long ago, we had a great many more lakes in the county than we have today. Many people believe that our lakes are permanent features of our county. Nothing can be farther from the truth. All our lakes started their young life during the glacial period—not so very long ago. Every close observer of Minnesota knows that our lakes are slowly but surely disappearing.

A great many meadows, swamps and sloughs speak to us today of their past history as lakes. Not very long ago Freeborn county contained possibly twice or three times as many lakes as it does now.

"If anybody is in doubt as to the future of our present lakes, he need only look at Twin lakes, Bear lake, and others. They are all filling up. Every little creek and mill that runs into them slowly filling them up with dirt. Water-plants are flourishing around their borders and way into their waters. The time is not so very far away when all our lakes will be history. At best lakes are only short-lived creatures in the history of our earth.

Our biggest lake in the county today is no doubt Albert Lea lake. But not so very long ago we had a lake in our county much bigger than Albert Lea lake—four or five times as big.

Altogether the lake covered a territory of some 27,000 acres or considerably more than a township.

For the want of a better name I shall call it the Vanished lake.

In its original splendor it was a beautiful expanse of water. It ranked in class with such lakes as Minnetonka and Cass lakes. It never was very deep, but in stormy weather it rolled with big heavy waves. It swarmed with fish.

The soil of the old lake bottom is deep, overlaid with clay. The decayed vegetation of ages gives an inexhaustible supply of fertilizers. The land has already proved its value. In 1920 and 1921 it raised excellent crops of flax, rice, corn, potatoes, soybeans, sugar beets and clover.

There is something wonderfully attractive in the idea of changing a worthless marsh into homes where men and women can live in happiness, and where the laughter of children is heard instead of the howls of the wolf.

To drive over the land today—when the growing crops raise their lovely heads instead of the old marsh grass—is a great pleasure. It will not be long before the whole marsh will be transformed into beautiful farms, into homes.

By that time the Vanished lake will have served its purpose. It will have finished its life's cycle. Once more it will be dry land as it used to be before the ice made it into a lake. And where the fishes swam and the billows roared the farmer now plows his field.

The Vanished lake lives in memory only.

DRINK MORE MILK

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

Since milk is a typical natural food, used by civilized and uncivilized people alike, it seems worthy of some special consideration.

It is practically the only food which contains all the elementary principles in anything like the right proportions. It requires very little energy for digestion.

Milk is, however, not easily tolerated by some people, and in any case is very deficient in iron, so that anemia is almost sure to result from its over-use.

A good way to include more milk in your diet is through the use of cream soups and creamed vegetables.

Because of the healthy little vitamins in milk, other dishes should be considered that contain this element. Many vegetables contain vitamins, such as spinach, carrots and turnips, and other green vegetables should be used in their respective seasons.

It is well to give children a quart of milk daily, while adults should drink at least a pint. It should be taken slowly and not in gulps and hurriedly.

Products of milk, such as cheese or buttermilk are, of course, healthy. However, it is difficult to digest. To promote its digestion it ought to be grated or eaten with some other easily digested food.

Cream contains most of the fats of the milk and is somewhat heavier food. One pint of cream contains more caloric value than four quarts of milk.

The addition to milk of water, cream and sugar is often necessary to make it more digestible, especially for children.

The other day we showed one of our novelties in EAGLE Shirts to a local young man who drives a sporty roadster and he said—"What do you think I want to look like—a race tracker?"

Two hours later—the same pattern was purchased by a near to town minister who said, "That's fine—I hate anything loud."

MEMEL PROSPERS

IN INDEPENDENCE

Paris—A. de Monzie, deputy, writing in the JOURNAL says:

"The hero of this strange story is a little people living in the country of Luxembourg, as flat as Flanders and situated on the Baltic Sea, still further north than Königsberg. The capital of this territory is a town of 30,000 inhabitants, with a port on the Baltic coast, the mouth of the Nieman, theoretically international which takes boats from Lithuania, and wood from Poland, to the sea. The name of Memel was unknown in France, even among those who imagined they knew some geography. Napoleon had been there and Marie-Louise had stayed there, but our business men knew nothing of the fishing and the timber trade before 1914. It is possible that France and Memel would have continued their destinies in mutual indifference if it had not been for the war and the adventures of peace.

"In the month of May 1919 we first heard of Memel's existence and at the same time that it was going to be before the ice made it into a lake. And where the fishes swam and the billows roared the farmer now plows his field.

answer that the English wording is 'settlement' and 'settlement' conveys no idea of dispossession. The Memel independence was recognized de facto, before being admitted de jure, while the Lithuania territories were being settled. And this is prov'd by the fact that the Council of Ambassadors provided Memel with a flag before giving it a national statute.

"This is the controversy which is going on about the fate of 150,000 persons or rather about the fate of their nationality. France is trying to play the part of mediator, and thinks that the Lithuanians and Poles must be ensured access to the sea by way of Memel, Danzig, alone not being sufficient. In spite of the sacrifices which this would cause to the people of Memel they have declared solemnly that they are ready to accept it. France, in agreement with England and Poland, will consent to establish their national independence which they received from the hands of a French general."

Zona Gale Is Booster For Badger Cast

Permission To Stage "Miss Lulu Bett" Is Indorsement Of Policy

Zona Gale's decision to give her famous play, "Miss Lulu Bett" which comes to Appleton on Dec. 8, an all-Wisconsin production and her choice of the Wisconsin Players of Milwaukee to present it, has been pointed out by many as indicative of the rapid progress made by the non-commercial theater movement in the state during the past few years.

Eleven years ago the Wisconsin Players numbered only a small group of artists, under the leadership of Laura Sherry, poet, playwright and actress. Their sole equipment consisted of a portable stage which they carried around from hall to hall.

But in three years, through the courage and persistence of Laura Sherry, they were able to take over a four-story old English house in the center of Milwaukee which they remodeled into a theater-workshop, a ballroom, a book shop and a tearoom.

PLAYED IN EW YORK

Now after barely a decade's existence, they have been accorded the signal honor of reproducing a play that ran for a year in New York City with phenomenal success and has been termed by many critics the greatest modern play of American family life. The purpose of the Players is not only to produce plays, but to "establish a workshop and experimental theater devoted to every phase of the theater arts, where any person who desires to express himself through them may come, and work and study and learn, unhampered by tradition or economic necessity."

Original plays are given a trial production in the workshop and the best presented in public. The Players also have opened a school of dramatic art. Several times they have appeared in other cities, including New York and Chicago, where they received the most commendatory notices. By the fall of 1923 their own theater will be ready for occupancy. It will contain the finest auditorium in Milwaukee, together with studios, workshops and offices.

The Appleton showing of "Miss Lulu Bett" is to be given at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Rasey And Clark Told By 'Cop' To Conduct Auction

Miss Bessie Munger and Edward Junge, general chairmen of the senior auction which will take place at Armory G on Wednesday afternoon of next week made announcements to the students of the high school on Wednesday morning. Miss Munger gave a list of things she did not want students to forget and just as she was leaving the rostrum, Mr. Junge appeared in police uniform including a star which he polished very carefully with his sleeve.

The officer of the law then read a legal document, containing every possible legal phrase, which was something of a combination of a contract and a summons for Lee C. Rasey, principal of the school and Harry Clark, one of the teachers. The men named in the summons have been made the auctioneers for the big student charity event. The proceeds from the auction will be used in providing Thanksgiving cheer barrels to needy families in Appleton.

FIND GREAT NEED FOR DENTAL WORK AMONG CHILDREN

Examinations Indicate Vast Majority Of Youngsters Need Attention

Kaukauna—The necessity for a dental clinic among school children has been definitely shown by the results of the first few weeks examination among children from nearly every school in the city. To date 552 pupils in Park, St. Mary and Holy Cross schools have submitted to examination and 538 have been found to have teeth which need attention.

Examinations have been made on various days, depending upon the ability of one of the three dentists assisting in the work to take charges. Drs. F. C. Talbot, W. C. Hultick and E. J. Bohnski are taking part in the clinic.

No dental attention has as yet been given to those children with bad teeth. The equipment in the city nurse's office in the public library has not yet been put into readiness for use. It is expected that everything will be in operation by the first of the year. Meanwhile examinations will continue.

Parents are said to be cooperating in the movement. There have been a few instances where parents did not understand entirely the purpose of the clinic but as a whole they have been interested, according to Miss Elizabeth Walsh, city nurse. It was necessary to explain to some mothers that no charge would be made for dental work unless the family could afford to pay.

The number of pupils examined in each school and the number with defective teeth are as follows: Park school, 255 examined, 135 defective; St. Mary school, 167 examined, 129 defective; Holy Cross school, 111 examined, 113 defective; St. Mary school, second visit, 123 examined, 118 defective.

Under the direction of the health committee of the Women's club the work is progressing satisfactorily. It is expected the clinic will be continued indefinitely.

WON'T START H. S. GYM THIS SEASON

Board Of Education Considers Equipment For New School Building

Kaukauna—A regular meeting of the board of education was held Monday evening in the council rooms. It was decided that it will be inadvisable at this time to continue with the construction of the auditorium and gymnasium which are included in the original plans of the new high school. Previous to the meeting it was thought by some members of the board that the foundations at least might be built now to make it easier to continue next spring.

The question of equipment in the new school was taken up. Members of the board made a trip of inspection to the new school in Clintonville. Equipping of the institution will begin in the spring so that it will be ready for the fall term. If the weather continues favorable the contractors expect to have the roof on the building by Dec. 10.

The resignation of Mrs. Helen Frank, formerly Miss Helen Darling, teacher of seventh grade in Nicolet school, was accepted. Miss Myrtle Rock, Milwaukee, was chosen to succeed her.

faces problems far beyond those of her forebears. She herself must be a much more competent person, combining in one individual the duties of nurse, cook, teacher and moral instructor. It is no wonder that many conscientious women break under the strain, and that others find a miserable existence, always tired and yet unable to take a day's vacation. Such women will find themselves benefited and their burdens made easier by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was made for suffering women, and does not fail to relieve them.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

You Can Sleep

Longer now, if you wish

Quaker Oats now comes in two styles, identical in quality and flavor.

Our experts have perfected Instant Quaker Oats—the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes, and it cooks to perfection.

Now your oat dish can be ready, if you wish, before the eggs or coffee.

Now two great supremacies

Now Quaker Oats in two ways excel any other oats in existence. Long ago their flavor won the world. It has made Quaker Oats the dominant brand wherever oats lovers live.

Quaker is flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds from a bushel, but those ten pounds are the finest oats that people ever get.

Now comes quick cooking. Instant Quaker is flaked from the same queen grains. But the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

If you want exquisite flavor you must get Quaker Oats. If you want five-minute cooking you must get them. Get either or both, as you like. But get Quaker always if you want this dish delightful.

CHAPTER III
Stormont followed, entered Clinch's quarters and presently came down stairs, carrying Clinch's snow-shoes and a tusked pack.

He started himself near Barragh. After a silence, "Your wife is beautiful, Jim," he said. "Her character seems to be even more beautiful than her face. I like her. I like her. I like her. And you're a rather wonderful fellow."

"None such," said Barragh. "I've given my wife her first American friend and I've done a shrewd stroke of business in making the best business associate I ever heard of."

"You're crazy but kind," said Stormont. "I hope I'll be some good. One thing I'll never get over what you've done for me in this crisis."

"There'll be no crisis, Jack. Marry and look up with me in business. That solves everything. Lord, what a life I've had! But you'll make it all up to her. All this loneliness and shame and misery of Clinch's Dump."

Stormont touched his arm in caution. Eve and Ricca came down the stairs—the former now in gray wool snow shoe dress, and carrying her snow-shoes, black gown, and toilet articles.

Stormont began to stow away her effects in the basket pack. Barragh went over to her and took her hand. "I'm so glad you are to be friends," he said. "It hurt a lot to know you held me in contempt. But I had to go about it that way."

Eve nodded. Then, suddenly, recollecting, "Oh," she exclaimed, reddening. "I forgot the jewel case! It's under my pillow."

She turned and sped upstairs and reappeared almost instantly carrying the jewel case.

Breathless, flushed, thankful and happy in the excitement of restoration, she placed the leather case in Ricca's hands.

"My jewels," cried the girl, as she found them. Then, with a little cry of delight, she placed the case upon the table, stripped open the embossed cover, and emptied the two trays. All over the table rolled the jewels, flashing, scintillating, ablaze with blinding light.

And at the same instance the outer door crashed open and Quintana covered them with Barragh's rifle.

With incredible quickness he stepped forward and swept the jewels into one hand-filled the pocket of his trousers caught up every stray stone and pocketed them.

"You panderer," he cried in a menacing voice, "you think you shall follow in my track? Yes? I blow your damn head off if you stir before the hour. After that—well, follow and be damn!"

Even as he spoke he stepped out, side and slammed the door; and Barragh and Stormont leaped for it. Then the loud detonation of Quintana's rifle was echoed by the splintering rip of bullets tearing through the closed door; and both men halted in the face of the leaden hail!

Eve ran to the pantry window and saw Quintana in somebody's stolen lumber-sledge, with a pair of horses to a gallop and pe floor-riding near into the Glacier Lake road.

Eve, terribly excited, came from the pantry.

"He's gone!" she cried furiously. "He's in somebody's lumber-sledge with a pair of horses and he's driving west like the devil!"

Stormont ran to the tap-room telephone, cranked it, and warned the constabulary at Five Lakes.

"Good God!" he exclaimed, turning to Barragh, searlet with mortification. "What a ghastly business! I never dreamed he was within miles of Clinch's! It's the most shameful thing that ever happened to me!"

Barragh, exasperated and dreadfully humiliated, looked miserably at his brand-new wife.

Eve and Stormont also looked at her. She had come forward from the rear of the stairway where Quintana had brutally driven her. Now she stood with one hand on the empty jewel case, looking at everybody out of pretty, bewildered eyes.

To Barragh, in a perplexed, unsteady voice, "Is it the same bandit who robbed us before?"

"Yes, Quintana," he said wretchedly. "Rage began to redden his features. 'Ricca,' he said, 'I promised to find you jewels. I promised to find you again that I'll never drop this business until your gem—the Flaming Jewel—are in your possession—'

"But, Jim—"

"I swear it!" he exclaimed violently. "I'm not such a stupid fool as I seem—"

"Dear," she protested excitedly.

"You have done what you promised. My gems are in my possession—I believe."

She caught up the embossed case, stripped out the first tray, then the second, and flung them aside. Then, searching with the delicate tip of her forefinger in the empty case, she suddenly pressed the bottom hard—thumb, middle finger and little finger forming the three apexes of an equilateral triangle.

There came a clear, tiny sound like the ringing of the alarm in a repeating watch. Very gently the false bottom of the case detached itself and came away in the palm of her hand. And there, each embedded in its own shaped compartment of chaos, lay the Esthonian jewels—the true ones—deep hidden, always doubly guarded by two sets of perfect imitations lining the two visible trays above.

And, in the center, blazed the Broste gem—the magnificent Flaming Jewel, a glory of living, blinding fire.

Nobody stirred or spoke. Barragh blinked at the crystalline blaze as though stunned.

Then the young girl who had once been Her Serene Highness Theodora, Grand Duchess of Esthonia, looked up at her brand-new husband and laughed.

"Did you really suppose it was these that brought me across the ocean? Did you suppose it was a passion for these that filled my heart? Did you think it was for these that I followed you?"

She laughed again, turned to Eve. "You understand. Tell him that if he had been in rags I would have followed him like a cypsel."

They say there is cypsel blood in us. God knows. . . I think perhaps there is a little of it in all real women."

Still laughing she placed her hand lightly upon her heart—"In all women—perhaps—a Flaming Jewel imbedded here—"

Her eyes, tender and mocking, met his. She lifted the jewel case, closed it, and placed it in his hand.

"Now," she said, "you have everything in your possession, and we are safe—we are quite safe, now, my jewels and I."

Then she went to Eve and rested both hands on her shoulders.

"Shall we put on our snow-shoes and go—home?"

Stormont flung open the bullet-splintered door. Outside in the snow he hopped on both knees to buckle on Eve's snow-shoes.

Barragh was performing a like office for his wife, and the State Trooper, being unobserved, took Eve's arm and kissed her, looking up at her where he was kneeling.

As their eyes met both remembered. Then she smiled at her lover with the shy girl's soul of her gazing out at him through eyes as blue as the wild blind gentians that grow among the ferns and mosses of Star Pond.

Far away in the northwestern forests Quintana still lashed his horses through the primeval pines. Triumphant, reckless, resourceful, dangerous, he felt that now nothing could stop him, nothing bar his way to freedom.

Out in the wilderness lay his road and his destiny, out of it he must win his way, by strategy, by cunning, by violence—creep out, be his way out, shoot his way out, but he was going back to life once more. Who could forbid him? Who could stop him? Who could deny him, now when in his pockets, he held all that was worth living for—the keys to power, pleasure—the key to everything on earth!

In fierce exultation he slapped the glass jewels in his pocket and laughed aloud.

"The keys to the world!" he cried. "Let him stop me and take them who is a better man than I!" Then his long whip whistled and he cursed his horse.

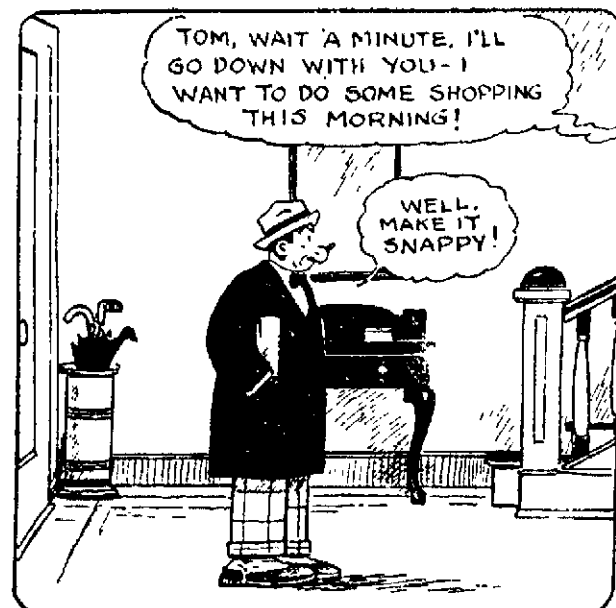

Then, of a sudden, close by in the snowy road ahead, he saw a State Trooper on snow-shoes—saw the up-flung arm warning him—screamed curses at his horses, flogged them forward to crush this thing to death that dared menace him—this object that suddenly rose out of nowhere to snatch from him the keys of the world.

For a moment the State Trooper looked after the runaway horses. There was no use following; they'd have to run all they dropped.

Then he lowered the leveled rifle from his shoulder, looked grimly at the limp thing which had tumbled from the sledge into the snowy road and which sprawled there crimsoning the spotless flakes that fell upon it.

THE END.

The race for supremacy in the Appleton City Bowling League, though early, is already beginning to assume an interesting angle. The 3 to 0 victory over the B. P. O. E. 337 has placed the Rainbow Gardens in the lead while the Olympics were sent down a notch and are now tied with the Hoffman Construction Co. and Elk Imperials for second place.

The Rainbow Garden lead is only one game and next week may find any one of the four leading teams at the top of the ladder.

Nothing of a sensational nature was accomplished by the ten pin knights Tuesday evening. The high score honors for a single game went to W. Grinn of the Olympics. He smashed 215 marbles. The biggest number of pins for three games was tallied by Smith of the Imperials. He got 601.

MATCH HILL FOR GO IN APPLETON ON NOVEMBER 29

Local Favorite To Meet Bill Leon Of Akron, O. Next Week Wednesday

George Hill, Appleton's wrestling champion, will be seen in action in the Paper city for the first time this season on Wednesday, Nov. 29.

Announcement was made Wednesday by Elmer Johnston, local promoter, that he has signed the Appleton favorite with Bill Leon of Akron, O. The contest will be staged in the armory.

Leon is considered a wrestler of the first division and has met many big fellows in the east and south. Leon is in Texas carrying out a heavy program but he will be in this vicinity before long.

When Hill meets the Akron Greek there is no question that he will have plenty to take care of. Leon has swept many aspirants out of the way and is giving Bill Demetral, the mainstay of Chicago Grecks, a sufficient scare for limelight to cause the Windy City grappler to hurl a challenge to the Buckeye champion. It is very likely that Promoter Elmer Johnston will try to get the two boys to settle their argument in Appleton before Fox river valley fans.

Hill is knocking down to hard work. Defeat at the hands of Freberg only set the Appleton heavyweight on intensive training for a return match. Hill asserts that he could have been in better shape but that wasn't the principal reason for his losing the match at Rockford. Fanning of Hill's favorite holds and certain other conditions were all in favor of Freberg.

In the Leon-Hill 'co, all holds except the struggle will be permissible. George announced Wednesday that he is willing to meet Freberg again, any place except Rockford.

Promoter Johnston is seeking a number of good lads to make up the preliminaries.

CHAMP AGAIN

WILLIAM E. HOPPE

New York—Willie Hoppe is again the 182 balk line billiard champion. He regained the title Tuesday night in the final match of the international 182 billiard championship tournament defeating Jake Schaefer the title holder 500 to 283. He won Tuesday night in the twelfth inning with an unfinished run of 105.

TWIN CITY BOOSTERS PREPARE FOR GAME WITH APPLETONIANS

Neenah Team Holding Practice For Basketball Tilt With Aces On Turkey Day

Neenah—Twin City Boosters will usher in the 1922-23 basketball season at S. A. Cook armory on Thanksgiving night against the Appleton Aces.

In preparation for their opening tilt, the Booster squad is holding two and three regular practices each week and is rounding well into form. The actual lineup that will represent the Booster colors will not be announced until a day or two before the contest. Suffice it to say that it will be the strongest combination the locals are able to muster and one that will do justice to whatever Appleton may have to offer, may their strength be ever so formidable.

The home schedule of the Boosters is rapidly taking definite form and already includes battles with teams that are expected to stand foremost in Badger professional ranks. Games have been arranged until the first of the New Year in the following way:

Nov. 20—Appleton.
Dec. 6—Manitowish Boosters.
Dec. 13—Two Rivers.
Dec. 20—Oshkosh R'Gosh.
Dec. 25—Open.
Dec. 29—Sheboygan.

The strongest traveling quintets of the country are looked to pass through Wisconsin early in the new year and games during the month of January will not be arranged until schedules can be set to include several of the strongest.

WE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Fose

Fox river fish are to be protected against industrial waste, if an appropriation asked for by the state board of health is granted by the legislature. The board has asked for $17,000 to carry on its sanitary engineering work. The fund is to be used to protect water supply furnished by Wisconsin communities and to guard against pollution of streams.

Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, said that industrial waste directed to streams is rapidly killing off the fish life, especially in the Fox and Wisconsin rivers. He said that the Wisconsin Conservation commission is prepared to cooperate with his department in an effort to keep streams clean and preserve the fish life.

Birchwood, Wis.—Old hunters report that the deer of this region have been practically wiped out because of the lack of closed seasons in the past. Only a few deer have been killed this season compared to previous years. With thousands of men in search of deer in this part of the state, only a few deer have been killed. Men are returning to their homes without success.

SEYMOUR H. S. CAGERS
PLAY 2 GAMES FRIDAY

Seymour—Two basketball games are scheduled here for Friday night. The high school boys' team will play Luxemburg high school five and the girls will play the girl team of Denmark high school.

Players chosen for the teams are: Boys—A. Heling, center; Thomas Duffy, Harold, Miracle, forwards; Claude Ohlroge, E. Elck, guards; T. Fiedler, T. McCord and T. Ohlroge, substitutes.

Girls—G. Frostner, center; T. Freimann, Ethel Nagel, forwards; A. Vieth, E. Booth, guards; M. Snell, E. Koeppl, substitutes.

Oshkosh And Milwaukee Normals Vie For Main Grid Laurels On Friday

Victory Will Mean The Most Number Of Games Won In Wisconsin Conference—Dope Favors Cream City

Standing of Teams	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Whitewater	2	0	1	1000
Eau Claire	2	0	1	1000
Milwaukee	2	1	0	667
Oshkosh	2	1	3	667
Superior	2	2	0	500
River Falls	2	2	1	500
La Crosse	1	1	1	500
Platteville	1	2	0	333
Stevens Point	1	3	1	250
Stout	0	3	0	000

The 1922 football season in the Wisconsin Normal School conference has all but passed into history. One more game remains to be played. Milwaukee and Oshkosh are scheduled to clash on Normal field in Milwaukee next Friday afternoon. This game will be one of the most significant on the schedule of these two schools, for the two teams are now tied for the leading position in the conference and this contest will determine the final standing of each. Both schools have been defeated once this season, but both Milwaukee and Oshkosh have won as many games as any other school in the conference.

Eau Claire and Whitewater have finished their schedules and each has won two games apiece. Neither can lose a conference championship on the winning of two games. Neither can Oshkosh or Milwaukee claim the championship, for each has been defeated once. There will be, therefore, no clear claim to a conference championship this year by any school. The team which comes out of this week's game the winner, however, will have won the greatest number of games in the conference. Both teams are desirous of securing this honor and are working overtime this week developing new plays and perfecting old ones for this crucial contest.

DOPE FAVORS MILWAUKEE
The dope is in Milwaukee's favor. Milwaukee two weeks ago decisively defeated Platteville the week after Platteville had won from Oshkosh. Milwaukee also defeated Stevens Point, while Oshkosh was able only to hold the Pointers to a tie.

In material the teams appear to be evenly matched. Oshkosh has a line which has played university football defensively this year. In Curtis and G. Jensen, Oshkosh has two place kickers of unusual ability, and McAndrew, Oshkosh quarterback, is probably the fastest backfield man in the conference and a wonderful defensive man against forward passes. On the other hand, Oshkosh has failed to develop a powerful offense this year but has depended upon long place kicks by Curtis for its scores. Oshkosh has made almost no use of forward passes.

DEER SEASON CLOSES; REPORT FEW MISHAPS

By Associated Press
MADISON—The Wisconsin deer hunting season which closes Wednesday has been marred by few accidental shootings of persons despite a record breaking influx of hunters into the northern counties of the state. W. E. Barber, chairman of the state conservation commission, says. Only one death has been reported by wardens, the commissioner declared.

Although bucks are said to have been plentiful, hunters reporting to the commission say that fewer were killed this year than last. The absence of snow and of cold weather caused the deer to keep under cover.

Mr. Barber believes that with the one-buck law in effect in Wisconsin hunters will be able to preserve its deer with an open season each year. He does not believe that a closed season will be necessary despite reports of a shortage of bucks in some sections.

Wardens report that hunters generally observed the law which prohibits shooting of does and fawns.

HEIDEMANN MAY PLAY AT QUARTER IN BEATRICE GAME

Youngster Probably Will Be Given a Chance Against Nebraska Team

The two reverses which Appleton high school has suffered on the gridiron this year has not only failed to dampen the fighting spirit of the grid-dere but has made them more determined than ever to take the measure of the speedy Beatrice, Neb., team here on Turkey day afternoon. While the state championship was the ambition of Coach Denney and his men when the season opened, they never lost sight of the feature game with the Nebraska school and if the Blue and Orange can down the visitors the boys will be quite well satisfied with the season.

A careful offense and defense will be worked up in the next week. Last year's experience has taught the Appleton grid-dere the kind of a game played by the Beatrice crew and a defense for that kind of do314u 5. 6ET was worked up. The boys also learned where Beatrice is most pregnable and that is where the offense will be directed.

There is a possibility that Walter (Snookie) Heidemann will direct the team from quarterback in the Thanksgiving day battle. The youngster has shown all kinds of promise as a pilot, carries the ball well and is a kicker of no mean ability. Mills, regular quarterback, has not recovered from his injuries and his work in the last few games was not quite up to his standard.

Heidemann is one of the hardest workers on Denney's squad. He rarely misses a practice and delights in the hard work. The few times that he has played he showed considerable ability. It would not be surprising if he develops into one of the stars of the Turkey struggle.

PRASE FOLLOWS ANN ARBOR GAME

Only Lone Penalty Despite Bitter Rivalry Between Michigan And Wisconsin

BY BILLY EVANS
Ann Arbor—Football enthusiasts who witnessed Michigan defeat Wisconsin saw two great football teams in action, eleven capable of holding their own with the best from any section of the country.

Wisconsin was far from disgraced in defeat. The margin of difference between the two teams was very slight. In the final minutes of play, Wisconsin, trailing by a 13 to 0 score, opened up its bag of tricks, showed a fighting spirit that was admirable and crossed Michigan's goal line, the first time that it has been done this year.

ONLY ONE PENALTY
The meeting between Wisconsin and Michigan was unusual in a number of respects. It proved beyond a doubt that two teams can play hard football, yet do it in a clean manner that calls for no rebuke from the officials.

Only one penalty was inflicted during the entire game. Wisconsin suffered a loss of fifteen yards because of tripping on the part of Sykes, which was largely accidental.

Wisconsin's touchdown was the result of five forward passes. Four were completed in succession, then a couple of line plays were tried and failed, followed by a pass across the goal line, which Pulaski, a substitute Wisconsin player caught, despite the fact that three Michigan players surrounded him.

A peculiar feature was that Michigan beat Wisconsin at its own game. In the first two periods neither team was able to score. Michigan had relied largely on straight football, Coach Yost must have told the boys something in between halves, because Michigan opened up the very first time it secured the ball in the third period. Both Michigan scores were the result of forward passes.

THREE GREAT ENDS
The game produced three of the best ends of the year. Kirke and George of Michigan and Tobell of Wisconsin. Likewise it played on exhibition two great halfbacks in Kink of Michigan and Williams of Wisconsin. Williams, who had been stopped more or less in the Illinois game, was at his best in the Ann Arbor encounter.

Wisconsin in the last few minutes of the game showed a varied assortment of forward passes that had the tired Michiganders bewildered. Had Wisconsin opened up earlier there might have been a different tale to tell.

It was a great game, one that reflects great credit to both Michigan and Wisconsin as well as western football.

WAIT FOR COE TO HURL CHALLENGE AT LAWRENTIANS

Iowa College's Claim To Midwest Title Based On Flimsy Grounds

While Lawrence has officially ended her football season, the team has not entirely broken training because of a possibility that Coe or Beloit might want to take a crack at the Blue and White machine. Coe claims a tie for the title of Midwest conference champion while Lawrence maintains that Coe's schedule hardly warrants that assumption. Coe has played only Knox and Cornell among the strong schools of the west. All the other games were with smaller and weaker institutions. Lawrence, on the other hand, hasn't dodged any opponent. It has played Beloit, Ripon, Cornell and Hamline, all among the strongest schools in the middle west and has still to lose its first game. Not one of the teams has been able even to score on McChesney's squad.

The biggest laugh arises from Beloit's claim to a tie with Lawrence for the Little Five title. Beloit has played only two Little Five games thus far and has won only one of them. True it held Lawrence to a tie but it was clearly outplayed in every period. Beloit and Ripon clash at Rockford on Saturday and there is a splendid chance that Ripon will make Beloit's claims look rather ridiculous.

Ship On Which Ellard Striegle Serves Caught in Ocean

Rush

Black Creek-Ellard Striegle, who joined the navy last summer, was in a ship near Chile at the time of the earthquake. He writes that the ship he was on turned around six times in 25 minutes. On account of the rush of water they had to drop three anchors to hold the ship.

Mrs. Jehu Witt of the town of Black Creek was taken sick about 4 o'clock Friday morning and was rushed to St. Elizabeth hospital, in Appleton and operated upon the same day. She is in a serious condition.

Mrs. Julius Endlich entertained at a six o'clock dinner in honor of her son Herbert's birthday anniversary. He is attending high school at Appleton and the dinner was a surprise for him. ## CHINA HELPED BY UNION COLLEGES, MRS. ROWELL SAYS

Pleads Support For Drive For Money In Union Meeting At Church

That Christian homes are founded in the Orient as a result of the teachings in the Western Union Christian colleges in Eastern countries was one of main points stressed by Mrs. W. A. Rowell who talked in the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The gathering was held jointly by missionary societies of several churches.

Mrs. Rowell is speaking throughout Wisconsin in the interests of the campaign to raise the remainder of a two million dollar fund for the support of the colleges in the Orient. She told of the work which has been done in colleges and what will be done if the mission boards of the various churches are able to finance them. She stated that in addition to founding Christian homes many students teach in the school upon their graduation and also go out in social work among their countrywomen. Hundreds of women are turned away yearly because of lack of room in the colleges and lack of funds to supply teachers, she said.

OTHERS SPEAK
Short talks were given by Miss Louise Browne and Mrs. T. E. Orblison. Miss Browne took the educators' point of view and explained how the colleges made for better homes, how they helped in creating a democratic spirit and their effect in international relations.

Mrs. Orblison told about the work of the colleges in Japan as he saw it while there. She spoke especially of the effect the Christian teaching had upon women and girls.

The executive committee composed of the presidents of the organizations which sponsored the program Tuesday evening will continue the work in Appleton. The committee will meet soon with the ministers of the city to arrange for some means of actually raising money to be added to the fund as Appleton's share before Jan. 1 when the campaign will end.

The Rockefeller foundation started the campaign by promising one million dollars if the United States and England would give two million. More than one million so far has been pledged and it is hoped that by Jan. 1 the colleges will be presented with the three million dollars.

Ford Dealers Meet
Ford dealers from Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Seymour and surrounding territory had their regular monthly meeting in the French room of the Sherman house on Tuesday evening. V. J. Harrington of Oshkosh and G. Lynch of Milwaukee gave sales talks and discussed business with the dealers. More than 20 were present.
